Probe Into JFK Assassination Says Some Reports Premature

WASHINGTON (AP) — The special commission investigating the assassination of the late president Kennedy said Thursday a federal investigation has been started into the "premature publication" of some testimony to the commission.

J. Lee Rankin, general counsel for the commission headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren, disclosed the investigation. In a telegram to Malcolm Epley, executive editor of the Independent Press, Rankin said "the commission has released no testimony whatever."

Epley, in a telegram to Warren, had protested the publication in "another newspaper in this area" of testimony given by Jack Ruby in the Dallas, Tex., jail.

Fierce Congo Counter Attack Drives Back Pro-Red Rebels

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP) — A fierce Congolese army counter-attack has driven Communist-backed rebels out of a portion of the Shantytown African quarter of Bukavu, according to messages reaching here today.

They said Col. Leonard Mulamba's soldiers, reinforced by about 150 men airlifted by U.S. Air Force planes from Leopoldville, struck Thursday night at the rebel ring closing around them.

Mulamba and his garrison of 800 men had been pushed into the European quarter of Bukavu, the last important city in northeastern Congo not held by rebels.

Assisting in the counterattack were two T-20 training planes equipped with machine-guns and rockets. They are reported to be flown by anti-Castro Cuban exile pilots serving with the Congo Air Force.

Thursday night, a U.S. C-130 transport plane flew 60 wounded Congolese soldiers and 10 dead from Bukavu to Leopoldville, 1,000 miles west of the rebel-threatened capital of Kivu province.

IN THE MIDDLE of reports about the Congo fighting, Premier Tshombe has claimed his men have found the body of Pro-Communist leader, Pierre Mulele, above. But the rebels claim he is still alive and fighting.

Crack CP Train In Crash, 8 Die

LEONARD, Ont. (CP) — Eight persons were reported killed and an undetermined number injured, some critically, when a gravel truck rammed into a fast CPR Ottawa-Montreal passenger train today in this farming community 17 rail miles east of Ottawa.

Seven of the dead were passengers on the train, commonly called the "Businessman's Special," which was struck at a level crossing in clear weather. The eighth was the truck driver identified as Basil Cayah of Ottawa.

The truck hurtled into the side of a day coach, which then careened into a concrete pump house and lodged into a grove of poplars. Two following passenger cars were derailed but remained upright. A dining car burst into flames.

NO SIGNALS

There are no flashing signals on the crossing. Residents of this little farming community arrived at the scene to find the dead and injured scattered for about 100 feet along the track. The truck was tipped into three sections and the driver's body was found 50 feet from the crossing. Ten ambulances arrived at the scene carrying the injured to hospitals in Ottawa. Leonard's small general store, its only business establishment, was used briefly as an emergency hospital.

Mrs. T. S. Woods, an elderly woman who lives near the track, said the crash woke her about 8:30 a.m. EDT. She rushed downstairs to find people crawling, staggering to her back door for help. Her back porch was stained with blood.

Her daughter-in-law, Mrs. F. J. Woods, said she had just driven her husband to work and returned to see the wreckage, including one coach on her mother-in-law's lawn.

"It was just awful. I saw some people whose bodies were in pieces. A lot of people were crying but there was no panic," Father Gaston Lassonde had his foot severed as he was thrown through the window.

Another passenger in the coach, Jack Hardman, 60, of Burnaby, B.C., ripped the coat from a package of paintings he was carrying and used it as a tourniquet on Father Lassonde's leg.

Bodies were left at the scene, covered with blankets, until the injured were taken to hospital. The coach smashed into the coach immediately ahead of two other cars and burst into pieces.

The flying coach roared off the track with the impact, struck a concrete pump house and ricocheted into a grove where it fell on its side.

Most of those killed died when the coach demolished a side of the pump house. They were thrown through the windows, the glass backing them like a saucer machine. Some of the injured had severed limbs.

"It was just terrible, just terrible," said Rodriguez Lalonde, station agent at nearby Navan.

Howard Gaffney, Conservative MP for Brimley-Mississauga, who was in the diner just ahead of the wrecked coach, said:

"I went from one injured to another, trying to help. Some of the dying priests were praying. I tried to help but about all I could do was console a little boy who was watching his father and mother die."

Mrs. F. J. Woods, who lives near the track, said:

Pearson Set To 'Strike Flag'

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The Free Press says in an Ottawa story that "unless something goes awry" Prime Minister Pearson is about to "haul down the national flag" and accept a "compromise proposal that an all-party committee of the Commons fashion a new and distinctive flag."

The newspaper says Parliament will then recess and a committee will be appointed to choose and recommend a new flag design.

The Free Press gave no source for its report.

It says "the accord-making will stipulate that all parties agree in advance to accept whatever flag design the select committee chooses."

Meanwhile Party Leaders gathered in Prime Minister Pearson's office today for their third meeting on the flag issue this week, and Creditiste Leader Couette said he will refuse to attend further meetings.

New Democratic Leader Douglas said he hopes some progress can be made today in breaking the parliamentary impasse, but added that if no progress is made there seems little value in continuing the meetings.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker did not make any comment to reporters as he entered the prime minister's office at 11:30 a.m.

"Trying To Avoid" Payment Of Share OVMA Meet Told

VERNON (Staff) — Mayor R. Parkinson of Kelowna Thursday accused the provincial government of trying to avoid paying their share of winter works projects.

The mayor, speaking to 75 delegates at the Okanagan Valley Municipal Association quarterly meeting in Armstrong said: "People in receipt of social welfare benefits for three months or more don't exist."

The provincial government has changed its winter works cost-sharing policy to include only 50 per cent of the payroll for workers on winter works projects who have spent the previous three months drawing social welfare.

Mayor Parkinson asked that the OVMA strongly protest this action by the government and urge it to reconsider its decision.

Members agreed to back this protest.

Executive director of the Union of B.C. Municipalities, Theo Adams told the meeting: "This matter will be forwarded at the UBCM meeting in resolution form."

Last year, the government paid 50 per cent of the payroll of social welfare recipients and 25 per cent of the remaining labor costs on winter works projects.

Delegates agreed to endorse six of seven resolutions presented. The group defeated a resolution dealing with off-street parking submitted by North Kamloops.

They backed two others from North Kamloops on mobile homes taxation and labor negotiations. Three from Kelowna were passed. They involved

After that, formal notice will be issued to the accused that the Superior Court will be asked to declare the cash forfeited to the crown if no contestation is made before Sept. 11.

Another $25,000 bail has been deposited pending his appeal of a five-year prison sentence in the assault of a rival officer of the SIU of Canada.

Banks also faces trial on a charge of conspiring to assault Richard Greaves of Vancouver with intent to cause bodily harm. Greaves, an official of the National Association of Marine Engineers (CLC), was assaulted in his office in January 1960.

MacDonald of North Kamloops and a nurse from the airport to hospital here when the nurse reported the child's incubator was running out of oxygen. Petty radioed his dispatcher who contacted firemen. A meeting was arranged en route to the hospital and inhalator equipment was hooked to the incubator for the remainder of the trip. The baby's condition was reported as fair. A Kamloops hospital official said the infant was suffering a heart ailment.

Majority of Resolutions Backed at OVMA Meeting

VERNON (Staff)—Delegates to the Okanagan Valley Municipal Association quarterly meeting in Armstrong, endorsed six of seven resolutions brought before them. This means OVMA members will back these resolutions when presented at the Union of B.C. Municipalities Convention in Richmond next month. The only motion not endorsed came from North Kamloops and concerned off street parking. The proposal asked for an amendment to the Municipal Act, requiring owners of buildings in any zone to provide off street parking or to deposit with the municipality, $2 for each square foot of parking space required. The municipality would use the funds to provide public parking areas. The reason for the motion was that in many cases, it is not feasible for businesses to provide off street parking of their own. Mayor F. P. Parkinson of Kelowna said it should be referred to OVMA directors or worked into the planning and zoning report submitted to the legislature by the UBCM in 1961. He also said it was served by the municipality. It would suffer from police action. Another North Kamloops resolution asked the provincial government to take steps for assessing taxes to include homes in municipal and school tax jurisdictions. Middle houses at not

Rich Strike, But Whose?

VICTORIA (CP)—Joe Johnson went digging for oil in a basement Thursday and struck it rich—for somebody. Mrs. Isabel Page hired Joe, 35, to dig a hole in the basement of her home to make room for an oil tank. Before long Joe struck something metallic. It turned out to be a piece of stainless steel shoring a shelf of slightly fattened currency worth a total of $1,150. Joe took the money home to his mother who phoned Saanich police. Police picked up the bills—nearly 30 years old, ranging from $10 to $100—and started sorting out the thorny problem of ownership. Presumably the money belongs to the person who buried it—on perhaps the Pages as owners of the home—or maybe to Joe as the finder. At the moment all police are saying is that they are still investigating.

PNE Presents Rocketeer In Empire Stadium Show

The weather was not that good but the PNE Rocketeer show was a success. The show was held at the PNE on August 21.

The Rocketeer is a rocket-powered aircraft that can fly at speeds of up to 1,000 miles per hour. It is a popular attraction at the PNE.

One of the show's highlights was the Rocketeer's performance in the PNE's new 100-foot high tower. The Rocketeer flew up the tower and back down again.

CITY BEACH OFFERS RELAXATION

A sandy beach, sunshine sparkling on the water and on the poplar leaves, that tremble in the breeze; beach clad tourists pausing to watch the gulls and terns fishing in the shallow water; is it the Pacific coast or Jamaica? No, it's Kelowna city park beach, in a setting that's difficult to match or surpass for its natural beauty. The time is 6:30 p.m. when most people have gone home to dinner, leaving the beach in all its sun setting glory to these three lucky visitors.

PROJECT PLANNERS PRESENT CASE

Centennial Plans Heard

The representatives of six suggested centennial projects for Kelowna will appear before the executive of the Centennial commission to fully discuss their ideas.

This was decided at a general meeting of the committee Thursday night. The six projects were generally discussed at the meeting.

Detailed reports will be given before the executive, which will sift through the suggestions and present its recommendations to another general meeting.

The projects under consideration are: Boys' Club recreation centre, chronic hospital, a 50 meter indoor swimming pool, acquisition of land suitable for future development, a museum and a YMCA.

ALL PROJECTS HEARD

Representatives of all projects spoke at the meeting, outlining cost, location and plans. Most reaffirmed their stand that they would support whatever project was chosen.

The foundation of a centennial celebration sub-committee was also announced at the meeting. This committee will look after the celebration part of Centennial year. Chairman is T. A. Capozzi.

George Phillipson spoke on behalf of the Boys' Club recreation centre.

"The trend today in all communities is to condition youth for athletic development. The recreation centre would do this," he said.

He estimated the cost at $420,000. The club would be able to raise $75,000 from sponsors, provincial and federal grants.

BOYS' CLUB CENTRE

Mr. Phillipson said the committee for the swimming pool and the Boys' Club had discussed combining, but had decided to go their separate ways.

"Should the committee decide on a swimming pool as the project the Boys' Club would support it, however, the $75,000 would not be available, unless the recreation centre was a separate project for the club," he said.

Mrs. T. F. McWilliams, representing the council of women, said the chronic hospital would not be for re-habilitating patients as is the usual definition of chronic hospital.

CHRONIC HOME

"What is needed is a place to care for terminal patients. Many of these are elderly people, but young people, such as paralytics, would also be included."

"We would like to see it operated by a society, perhaps the Kelowna Hospital society, and have it situated on the present hospital grounds," she said.

"An indoor swimming pool would do most good for the most people," L. A. Snook, representative of that project said.

He suggested a 15 meter pool, adjacent the Aquatic.

"The International Regatta needs updated facilities in order to compete with other water shows rapidly becoming more sophisticated."

INDOOR POOL

He said there was only five weeks of good weather to use the outdoor pool. Some 80,000 visitors and residents used the Ogopogo pool last year, which indicates the need.

"The swimming pool indoors would have dressing rooms, showers, facilities for visiting artists and recreational facilities which would help maintain the cost."

"If the swimming pool was built, but not enclosed until later, it could probably be done for $70,000," he said.

The suggestion to acquire land for a future complex was originally presented by Bob Simpson.

D. N. Elsdon said the committee investigating the idea did not want to discuss it further at present.

LAND PURCHASE

"However the land could be acquired and turned into a Centennial park. Then as the opportunity and need arises it would be available for such projects as recreation centre."

"The buildings as built would be located in attractive surroundings, and not a hodge-podge around town."

"Several sites have been suggested," he said.

The Okanagan Museum and Archives association wants suitable premises for a museum, C. W. Knowles, vice-president, said.

"Our museum was the pride of the valley, but many other towns are surpassing us now, and it is being pushed into the background," he said.

"There is not enough for young people to do in Kelowna," she said. "Another feature of a YMCA is it would be self-supporting."

"Our biggest problem at present is that the building is not fireproof. People refuse to donate valuable historical relics to a building where they could easily be destroyed."

"If a fire should destroy the present museum, many articles could never be replaced," he said.

H. S. Robinson, also of the association, said centennial year is to celebrate Canada's history and therefore a centennial project should be related to history, such as a museum would be.

"The basic function of the museum is to provide educational facilities for all, residents and visitors alike."

ATTENDANCE INCREASE

"At present, with limited hours, attendance is increasing at the museum every year. In 1962 there were 32,000 people, the following year 39,000."

"The new museum could be built within the basic financial budget available," he said.

Suggestions for location being considered by the association are the Queenway terminals, or added to the present building in the area between the back of the museum and the water, or on the corner with the library, including the library and an expanded art gallery," he said.

Mrs. Jean Cox suggested financing a YMCA and obtaining financial assistance from the YMCA.

"There is not enough for young people to do in Kelowna," she said. "Another feature of a YMCA is it would be self-supporting."

How Would Apostles Report The Election?

Senator Goldwater, republican candidate for the U.S. presidency, recently commented that he sometimes wondered "where Christianity would be today if some of those reported (alleged misquoters) were Matthew, Mark, Luke and John."

The Portland Oregonian, noticing the comment, developed it further, emphasizing that the senator meant no offense to devout Christians in his tongue-in-cheek dig at the press, and that it meant none in its reply, the Oregonian went on to say:

"If Matthew, Mark, Luke and John were covering the Goldwater campaign, this is how, from past performance, one might expect them to operate: Mark would do the basic story and Matthew and Luke would rewrite his copy, adding some material of their own. John's quotations would be quite different from those of the other three."

"Matthew, Mark, Luke and John would not likely be covering the campaign. The authors of the Gospels attributed to these four were more historians than reporters. The Gospels are not a running account of the words and acts on which Christianity is based, written as they were said and done. The Gospels were compiled much later, probably between A.D. 65 and 90 to 110, most Biblical scholars agree."

"These scholars believe Mark was written first. Matthew and Luke were based largely on Mark, but with additional material included. Encyclopedia Britannica says the authors of the later Gospels altered the order of events and modified, edited, transposed, changed and abridged the material in Mark "very freely". Each had his own emphasis aimed at a particular readership.

"The Person quoted by John sounds quite different from the One who spoke in parables and short memorable rules for living in the other three Gospels, says J. B. Phillips, who translated the Gospels into modern English. 'In John's Gospel,' he wrote, 'the discourses are long and different in style. . . . There are many similes and metaphors but no parables at all.' Goldwater according to John would quite likely sound much different from Goldwater according to Matthew, Mark or Luke."

"One cannot compare modern newspaper and broadcasting reporters with the authors of the Gospels, of course. One big difference was that the Gospel writers had a common, overwhelming faith in the Personality they described. No one could expect objective reporters to feel that way about the senator from Arizona, who cannot, of course, be compared with the Subject of the Gospels."

"Nevertheless, Sen. Goldwater has opened the way for interesting conjecture. One wonders how Matthew, Mark, Luke and John would handle the senator's speeches and off-the-cuff remarks and whether any of the four would be tagged as a Communist by some of the senator's more extreme supporters."

Safest Route To School

With summer holidays coming to a close, thousands of youngsters are looking forward to their first day of school or kindergarten.

The wise parent will study the different ways of going to school to find out which is the safest route for their child. The parent should then go with the child over that route until the child knows it by heart.

The youngster should be made aware of any dangers along the route; what to do at traffic signals, stop signs or other places where protection is provided. It is very important that the child learns which signal face to watch until it turns green, before crossing the street.

Where an intersection is guarded by school patrol members, the parent should co-operate in safeguarding the child by not starting him to school too early to take advantage of this protection. The child should also be taught not to loiter on the way home so that he may cross in safety before the patrols have left their posts.

The responsibility for the safety of a child going to school cannot be left solely to the motorist. It is up to the parents to educate their child before letting him venture to school alone.

Let your child's first step into the future be a safe one!

In An English Garden

No people on earth love gardens and do more to beautify their premises with flowers than the English. Undoubtedly that love of nature had something to do with the light sentence handed down in magistrate's court of Beaconsfield, Buckinghamshire, recently when the judge sentenced Viscount Portman's head gardener, Frank Kilguspor, a paltry £3 for a misdemeanor on the Viscount's estate.

The gardener, testimony showed, was devoted to his flowers. All he had done was to spank Lady Portman thoroughly and throw her out of his greenhouse. Lady Portman wanted to putter about amongst the plants when the gardener was away, and the gardener refused to leave the greenhouse door unlocked. "Indeed, I will not," testimony quoted him as saying, "I am not going to have you mucking around my plants when I'm not here." One word led to another, and presently the gardener beat her and pushed her out of the door. "I soundly smacked her bottom," he swore in court. "She may have had cuts and bruises but it was not malicious on my part." No, the gardener merely hoped to protect Lord Portman's flowers, and the judge obviously took the view that this showed the gardener's conscientious regard for his duty. Good gardeners are hard to find, even in Britain, and we are glad Lord Portman's man was not locked up, this being the growing season.—Washington Post.

Retired At 14

It seems only yesterday the world of science astounded us with the invention of the almost-human devices we originally termed "electronic brains". In the more sophisticated present we realize what is commonly called the "computer" is not a superior being likely to dominate mankind, but rather just a highly-efficient adding machine and filing cabinet destined to remain in a most useful but servile capacity.

But we are reminded by Electronics magazine that it all began 14 years ago and time has brought so many improvements that the world's first "brain", an internally-programmed digital computer born in 1950 and used by the National Bureau of Standards to help design the first H-bomb, is being retired. "Too old to keep up with the younger crowd," says Electronics, pointing out that today's world has larger problems which can be solved only by computers with faster speeds and bigger "memories".

Only 14 years, yet today there are countless thousands of computers in service around the world, doing everything from telling a moon rocket which way to go to telling us who's won our elections. Only 14 years, yet the SEAC (Standards Electronic Automatic Computer) is a revered antique, slated for display at the Smithsonian Institution. It is indeed a fast-moving world.

Classroom Said Best Spot To Beat Accident Rate

EDMONTON (CP) — The classroom is the best place to pursue "twisted thinking" that results in hundreds of traffic accidents among young drivers and cost them higher insurance rates, says Alberta Highways Minister Gordon Taylor.

"People in the under-25 age group should be the best drivers," he says. "They have the best reflexes. They are quick to learn. They have the time to practice."

"But instead, as a group, they're the worst. The basic reason is the twisted thinking towards driving held by a minority within the classification."

The minister describes twisted thinking as a tendency to underestimate the danger of speed, drinking while driving, "hero escapades" and foolish games, recklessness about road conditions.

"If we can get rid of such thoughts among young drivers we can appreciably reduce the number of accidents that involve them. The best place to do this job is in the classroom."

"In other provinces and in the United States statistics indicate a high school course has reduced accidents among graduates by a minimum 50 per cent."

There are 694,500 drivers in Alberta and 139,500, or about 20 per cent of them are under 25. In the last 18 months, 26 per cent of the 458 fatalities in the province have involved under-25s.

Because under-25s seem to be accident prone and the accidents tend to be more severe, insurance companies impose a surcharge on teen-agers buying automobile insurance, Mr. Taylor says.

"It's unfair," he adds, "because this approach is the result of lumping all young drivers, good and bad, into one basket."

The answer probably lies in classroom instruction, Mr. Taylor says, noting that insurance companies offer a 10-per-cent reduction in insurance rates to students who graduate from recognized driver training courses, including those conducted by qualified high school teachers.

Four years ago the highways department called together interested youth and safety groups to discuss methods to cut the accident toll in the under-25 age group. The result was establishment of a driver education course for teachers. The hope was to train sufficient members to handle driver training as an extra mural course in high schools.

In the four years since it was started, 80 teachers have graduated. But only six so far have started to conduct classes and they have graduated about 250 students.

"School boards are wary about instituting such a course because of the money involved and because of some public opposition."

"Several daily newspapers have criticized the program as a fad. They have stated that schools should be kept as a place where academic courses are taught."

"Schools should be the academic training centre, but this job includes preparing the youngsters for future life in society. Driving now plays a prominent part in our lives and children must be prepared to handle this responsibility, too."

Mr. Taylor said if school boards get behind the program it will provide a tremendous impetus to safety campaigns. He will impress his thoughts on the subject to trustees at their annual meeting in the fall.

The minister said an offer by major auto manufacturers to supply training cars to school boards free if they launch a driver training program "will help encourage boards to begin such activities."

"And the desire to improve the record of the under-25 group does not come only from adults or traffic officials. Teen-agers, also, want to improve the record."

"All 40 hot rod clubs in Alberta have made safety a prime concern and severely discipline members who break traffic laws or who drive carelessly. As well, 4-H clubs have made driver safety on the highway and farm a special project within their activities."

GESTATES LONG TIME

OTTAWA REPORT

Buyer In Need Of Protection

By PATRICK NICHOLSON
Daily Courier Ottawa Bureau

It would perhaps be overstating the case to assert that "Main Street is a chop-boat." But the widespread organization of consumer's associations and frequent manifestations of unease tend to show that the age-old warning — "Let the buyer beware" — is insufficient; the consumer now needs protection and advice in what has become in some respects an uneven contest for the almighty dollar.

The present Parliament has yielded two examples of our legislators coming to the aid of the consumer. The first was the establishment of a committee of the Senate to examine the practices involved in consumer credit. The sponsors of this enquiry considered that the consumer was given insufficient and even misleading information as to the rate of interest—often exorbitant—when he was being charged on various forms of credit, ranging from the financing of the purchase of a used car to the second mortgage on his home.

JUDY TO THE RESCUE

The second event has only recently occurred and has not yet been examined and explained in the detail which it deserves. This was Judy LaMarsh, our minister of national health and welfare, rushing like the fire truck to the aid of all consumers—and remember we are all, even Judy herself, consumers, collectively spending the staggering total of twenty-five billion dollars this year.

Miss LaMarsh recently announced in Parliament the creation of an Advisory Council of Consumers. This committee consists of 14 women and two men, all experienced in the field of consumer guidance. Its purpose, says Miss LaMarsh, is "to advise me and the department on all matters of interest to the Canadian consumer."

That is a pretty wide task. But Miss LaMarsh tells me that she intends this new advisory council to have very wide scope, not only initiating recommendations to her, but also making studies on subjects which she may refer to it.

It is also very obvious that the consumer associations as well as private individuals will write to the committee, through Miss LaMarsh, to bring apparent irregularities and other complaints to its notice.

PACKAGING MISLEADS

I specifically asked Miss LaMarsh about two widely separated but universally interesting matters.

Will the council move to establish standards for sales within the Canadian clothing industry? At present, for example, it is not unusual for a harassed mother to find that a child's garment size 5 made by one manufacturer is smaller than a similar garment size 4 made by another manufacturer. Yes, Miss LaMarsh told me, she is alert to this situation, and hopes that steps will be taken which will create uniformity in sizing to help both the consumer and the retailer.

What about packaging? Does she recall now several years ago David Fulton, the MP for Kamloops, waged a battle against the misleading packaging of baby food? Yes, she said, that the whole matter of confusing as well as misleading packaging shall be studied and put right in the interests of the consumer. The consumer, she told me, should be enabled to see what she is buying and not have the goods concealed in misleadingly partly revealed by opaque packages with only small "windows."

No doubt every housewife has her own favorite complaint. It is to be hoped that they will co-operate with Miss LaMarsh and her new advisory council by writing to her at the House of Commons, Ottawa (no postage stamp required) to bring such complaints to her notice.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

REGATTA RAPPED

Sir: This is our third time visiting your Regatta.

It certainly was not so good this year.

We think grandstand attractions were very poor, especially by the high prices charged.

Something entirely different in acts are very much needed to draw the people for grandstand display at those prices charged.

We have seen elsewhere, much better shows for 75 cents. Also just stuff for kids shown in your park. That costs us $1.50 a day for admission.

Your four seasons playground motto may be alright, but why hold all four seasons in one season—Winter?

We are now leaving for elsewhere. I doubt that we will ever return to another Regatta here. Unless shows are much improved.

Where were the famous swimmers and divers who were supposed to be present here?

W. A. STINSON.

ARE THEY . . . ?

Sir: Your editorial, Aug. 17, entitled "United States: Can't Be As Bad As All That." An increasing number of people think it is.

You are prompted to review the character of the United States by accusations leveled against it in an anonymous letter you have received from Vernon. You do not like it said, to quote from your letter, that that country "cannot be believed—ever" and that "every move it makes is for its own selfish ends." You instance that it has spent "billions upon billions of dollars . . . to help . . . other nations."

I support your letter writer. We think everything the U.S. has done has been a string attached to it. Help for building the Aswan Dam on the Nile, a notable instance, did not materialize because an expected string could not be attached. The late John Foster Dulles said he was only concerned with the interests of the United States. Building an empire, or maintaining it, has always been a cruel, hard, ruthless thing. The builders are not philanthropists. Such would be a find in history.

As for the word of the U.S., you admit it "did not show up too well in the Bay of Pigs affair." One lie can be enough to establish a character. And this was not the first one that did.

A letter like your anonymous letter writer's and one like this are not easy for an editor to publish, yet destruction of the "proper" image of America is one of the most constructive works for mankind that can be done. Convincing people that honor does not lie on their side is a fulcrum. The lever is that people want it. To From the two comes possibility.

If one is bothered by vandalism of some kind, the problem is relieved if one finds it comes from one's own house. THAT can be taken care of. True, the discovery will be a major traumatic shock, but now the thing is under one's own hands, whereas before there is a vista of endless problem. The West has an errant person in its own house, the United States has the power by its electorate to clean itself up.

Yours sincerely,
ALEX C. BEASLEY,
Winfield.

More U.S. Now Than British . . .

LONDON (CP) — Canadian author Mordecai Richler, writing in the British humor magazine Punch says Canada went into the Second World War "less than a British dominion and emerged an almost American country."

Richler, 33, is one of six writers contributing articles on current Canadian attitudes to Britain. Born in Montreal, he has lived in London for the last nine years. Examining the declining British influence in Canada, he says:

"No dentist's office is without Time, but only the quaint or those of an older generation would carry a British publication."

"Our most seriously regarded writers are often the sons and daughters of Jewish immigrants, European in origin, and culturally made in America."

Many Canadians, he says, think England still is the land of "Dickens and daffodils . . . a sort of dignified Disneyland where everybody and the guards (who are always changing) stops for tea and irresponsible Cockneys join hands in pubs to hang Knees Up, Mother Brown."

Richler says that in Toronto recently he discovered it generally felt that Canadians would only come to London as a second choice, "that is to say, if they weren't good enough for New York."

New York is Canada's cultural capital and it is responsible for some of the best as well as the worst influences on the country.

"What's more, it's geographically and emotionally logical that we should now look to America and not England for leadership."

REFUGEE TRAINING

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Expansion of Palestine refugee training facilities financed by World Refugee Year donations will enable 1,411 refugees to graduate from UN-run vocational centres this year. Last year there were almost 900 graduates from schools in Jordan, Syria, Lebanon and the Gaza Strip.

FEAR OF SHOTS
MONTREAL (CP) — Most adults in Montreal do not take polo shots unless there is fear of an epidemic, officials of the city's health department say. "The cases we see are mainly people over 20, because fewer people in that group are immunized." Sixty-eight per cent of persons under 20 have had the shots.

Pink the edges of iron-on patches and tapes. They'll adhere longer.

ANN LANDERS Not So Difficult To Steer Clear Of Dames

Dear Ann Landers: This letter is no gag. I'm dead serious and I need some help. I look like Marlon Brando and it's ruining my life.

I'm 30 years old, happily married and the father of three children. I'm a steady church-goer.

The girl who runs the elevator in this building takes me down to the basement, pushes the stop button and tries to get friendly. The baby sitter keeps asking I drive her home because I am so "mature" and she is sick of high school boys.

When I stop at a lunch counter, women come over and ask for my autograph. I tell them they are mistaken but they sit down anyway and want to get acquainted.

Yesterday, my wife saw me having a cup of coffee with a beautiful young girl from the office who has been making a pest of herself lately. I may be in a little trouble at home. Please give me some help.—CASE OF MISTAKEN IDENTITY.

Dear Case: Why don't you arm yourself with a whip and a chair—

A thirty-year-old married man who doesn't want to get mixed up with dames knows how to steer clear without any help from me, so put that show on the road, Dad.

Dear Ann Landers: There are five children in our family and I am the last to be married. Father is not wealthy, but he has provided well for us and is extremely generous.

When my brothers and sisters married he gave each a sum of money to help them get started. The oldest brother used his money to return to college for a master's degree. The second brother made a down-payment on a beautiful bungalow. My sisters bought furniture.

The problem is my fiancé. He does not believe in accepting money from parents. I have great respect for his spirit of independence, but I also feel I'm entitled to the same amount my brothers and sisters received.

Will you give us your opinion, please?—NO ORPHAN ME.

Dear No Orphan Me: It seems clear these sums of money have been wedding gifts. Your fiancé should not insult your father by refusing to accept such a gift.

After marriage, however, your fiancé would be perfectly justified if he refused to accept money from your father.—And I say more power to him.

Dear Ann Landers: I'll make it short and sweet. I'm a liar. I met this dreamy guy a few months ago at a resort. I told him I was a high school junior. The truth is I'm only a freshman. He was in college and I was doing to make a hit with him. I thought it would help if he believed I was a junior.

He is coming to this city in a few weeks and I'm afraid he will find out the truth.

Should I tell him I was sick in the hospital for two years? Or would it be better if I told him my folks took me on a trip around the world and I missed a lot of school?

I will straighten out the lie about my age later. I said I was 17 and I am really 15. Right now I want to square this thing about being two years behind in school. The truth is I am right where I ought to be.—HEAP BIG TROUBLES.

Dear Heap: You're where you ought to be all right—out on a limb with a nice sharp saw. That's the trouble with a lie—you usually have to tell six more to cover up the first one. Confess that you fibbed because you wanted to impress him and do it promptly before someone beats you to it. Tell him from now on you're going to play it straight. And for heaven's sake DO IT.

Mrs. Pearson Speaks At Opening Of Roosevelt Campobello Park

CAMPBELL ISLAND, N.B. (CP)—In a rare public speech, Mrs. Lester B. Pearson today recalled her memories of Franklin D. Roosevelt, late president of the United States.

Mrs. Pearson joined Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson for the opening ceremonies of the Roosevelt Campobello National Park on this island where the former president spent his summers from the time he was a baby.

"My first, most vivid memories of president Roosevelt go back to those dark days of 1939-40 when, with my husband in London among the bombs and the fires, I was alone in Gstaad with my children.

"I remember listening to his fireside chats to the American people pleading the Allied cause against Nazi Germany; and I remember how I prayed that his voice would be heard with understanding and, ultimately, with accord."

MET LATE PRESIDENT
Mrs. Pearson recalled that she had met president Roosevelt several times. "I remember how deeply I admired and respected his courage in the face of his physical disability.

"Then one dark day in April, 1945, I came home from the hospital where I was working as a nurse and found there at the Embassy (Canadian embassy in Washington), waiting to see my husband, was Scotty Reston of the New York Times.

"He told me Mr. Roosevelt had died. I will never forget the shock, the deep personal sorrow—and the wave of fear I felt for the future of the free world without him. And I knew that awful feeling of loss would be felt as deeply by millions of Canadians and Americans—and shared to free men around the world on that lonely day."

BECOMES PARK
Campobello Island, an outpost of Canadian territory almost a stone's throw from Maine, is being established as an international park today.

Former president Roosevelt came here as a child. He learned to sail on Passamaquoddy Bay and later brought his own children to the 32-room cottage his mother bought him in 1912. It was at Campobello that Mr. Roosevelt was stricken with polio in 1921. The old summer home of the former president is to be the centre-piece of the new park.

Mrs. Pearson said she was proud and privileged to have part in dedicating the international park to the memory of president Roosevelt.

"I hope the park will give pleasure to many people and, in so doing, will cherish for all time the memory of one of history's greatest men."

Text of her address was released to the press in advance. Earlier, Mrs. Pearson and Mrs. Johnson, who arrived by boat from Maine, cut a ribbon, officially opening the new park.

The estimated number of families in Canada's 10 provinces on June 1, 1962 was 4,239,000, an increase of 99,000 since the 1961 census.

PETER'S PATTTER

with PETER MUNOZ

Sam diving can be fun, but it also can be dangerous. This is the first of two columns dedicated to this growing water sport.

Usually one associates swimming with beach frivolity, an extra-curricular school activity, or just a pleasant hobby, but it is far more serious than that. This is the sage advice of Dave Karam, president of the Kelowna Sam Diving Club.

He outlined five basic elementary rules, of prime importance to the novice or anyone entertaining an idea to do some sam-diving, even in a limited capacity. You should be a competent swimmer. Have a medical check-up. Ocean expert advice. Know your gear, how to use and master it. Never dive alone.

Dave said if you have passed the Red Cross senior swimming course, you should be competent. The medical should have special emphasis on the heart, lungs and ears. Advice or answers to questions could and should be sought from any club member in Kelowna.

Also he recommended an available booklet available from sport stores which outlines the do's and don'ts of safe sam-diving. Become aware of the limitations of your equipment. Practice straight sam-diving with the mask, fins and snorkel—until competent by diving standards—before Ocean expert advice. Know your gear, how to use and master it. Never dive alone.

He explained the difference between skin and scuba diving. Scuba includes the use of equipment such as the tank with regulator. Amazing as it seems, this tank does not contain straight oxygen as so many think. "The book" says it is a supply of high pressure air in a tank. A gaseous mixture of straight oxygen is actually poisonous, Dave informed us.

As is true with so many sports, safety is a prime factor in sam-diving. Dave illustrated one problem which can arise in the water. On the way up you have to exhale. You can't hold your breath or there's danger your lungs will burst. As you rise you lungs expand with the increasing pressure. You have to exhale the air pressure with the water pressure. He said he offered an interesting example. Take a balloon under water and watch it expand with pressure as it comes to the surface.

Another danger he stressed is the possibility of underwater pressure damaging eardrums. "Some can dive 30 or more feet without any effect, whereas others will experience trouble at 10 feet." He was wise to take precautions. These are things many people are unaware of, but it is better to investigate before plunging into the sport uninformed.

Bouyant White Sox In Lead Following American Fixtures

By MURRAY CHAM

Associated Press Sports Writer

"A better blow," moaned Hank Bauer.

"My thoughts of a pennant are high now," beamed Al Lopez.

"We'll be right up near the top again," said Yogi Berra hopefully.

Those were the reactions Thursday of three American League managers following a pair of games that left Chicago White Sox in first place, Baltimore Orioles without Roy Powell and New York Yankees struggling for air.

Lopez' White Sox replaced the Orioles in first place, blanking New York 5-0 for their fifth straight victory and the Yankees' fourth consecutive defeat.

The Orioles' 4-3 loss to Boston Red Sox dropped Bauer's boys one-half game.

Powell, Bauer's slugging left fielder, broke his left wrist trying for a catch against the wall in the second inning and may be lost to the Orioles for a month.

"We might as well forget him," Bauer grumbled.

Forgetting 31 homers and 80 runs batted in undoubtedly will be difficult. Getting a replacement will be even tougher.

"I've been in baseball 40 years and no series has given me more satisfaction than this one," Lopez said.

Then there's Berra, who is counting on the eight games the top two teams must play with each other. The first of four games in Chicago is tonight.

The tension, meanwhile, might be getting to the Yankees. Berra and infielder Phil Rizzuto became engaged in a heated row over Rizzuto's batting order in the team's following game.

Yankee coach Frank Crosetti called the incident the worst he's seen in his 33 years with the team.

Back on the field, Los Angeles Angels edged Detroit Tigers 6-3 and Kansas City Athletics defeated Cleveland Indians 4-1.

The White Sox shelved Whitey Ford from the mound on route to their victory. The Yankee hurler, making his first start since Aug. 8, lasted only into the fourth inning as Chicago ragged him for nine hits.

Bob Tullman's two-run homer highlighted a four-run second inning that carried the Red Sox past the Orioles. Frank Malzone's single preceded Tullman's blast off Dave Vineland.

Pitcher Dave Morehead then doubled on the play on which Powell was hurt.

Detroit's Dennis McLain held the Angels to two hits through six innings. But his throwing error on a grounder hit by Felix Torres helped a four-run Los Angeles rally in the seventh.

Bob Rodgers scored the tying run on the wild toss. Lou Clinton followed with a run-scoring single off reliever Julio Navarro.

Ricky Colavito and Doc Edwards' lashed two-run singles in the eighth inning, lifting the Athletics over the Indians.

Cleveland had taken a 3-2 lead in the seventh on Woodie Held's run-scoring double.

400-Foot Home Run At Seattle Helps Giants Beat Home Team

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dick Dietz of the Tacoma Giants did something Thursday night that only one baseball player has done before him in the 27-year history of Seattle Stadium. He hit a homer over the 400-foot center field fence as the Giants beat Seattle 6-4.

In other Pacific Coast League games, Portland downed San Diego 11-1, Salt Lake City beat Indianapolis 4-2, Dallas beat Arkansas 6-2, Oklahoma City edged Denver 7-6 and Spokane beat Hawaii 7-4.

Portland's victory at San Diego reduced the Padres' margin in the Western Division to 1½ games. Steve Hargan, 21-year-old right-hander who went the distance for the Beavers, allowed only five hits.

Frank Zuppo and Chet Boak homered for Dallas against the visiting Arkansas Travelers.

Zuppo hit a two-run homer in the fifth, one of his three hits in four trips. Boak smacked a three-run homer in the seventh.

While at Oklahoma, Oklahoma City's Ben Johnson pitched four scoreless innings against Denver Bears after Denver's Lou Klimchick, Eddie Haas, Ethan Blackaby and Tommy Aaron all got homers off starter Larry Yellen in the first five innings.

And at Honolulu, John Werhas homered twice for Spokane driving home four runs.

FOOTBALL TEAM PRACTICES CALLISTHENICS

Practice begins in earnest this week for Kelowna Cubs football team, seen here doing the "Pentagon" during a period of callisthenics Thursday night at city park. Coach Bob Shurtz put some 25 prospects through their paces in preparation for the coming Chanagan Machine Football League season which opens this year on September 18.

"Rejuvenated" Labatts On Spot Here Saturday

The rejuvenated Kelowna Labatts, buoyed by their first taste of victory in weeks and their first at Penticon are anxious to extend the steam Saturday night.

FOURTH GAME

They meet the Red Sox in the fourth game of the best-of-five Chanagan Machine Baseball League semifinals in the friendly confines of Elks' Stadium. Game time is 8 p.m.

Labatts are face with the monumental task of trying to win three straight ball games which would carry them into the finals against Kamloops Lehighs for the OMA championship.

But genial Jack Burton, Labatts skipper, feels the boys are fired up now and could just knock over the Red Sox.

"I think we'll gas them Saturday night," Jack said. "We're playing better ball now and we have the confidence back again."

With the return of big Gerry Robertson, we have more strength."

He wasn't sure who his starting pitcher would be Saturday, but he said there is a good chance Bud Engleby would go again.

"He's pitched some good ball for us in this series," Jack said. "If he's up to it, we'll probably throw him again."

If Engleby doesn't start, big right-hander Les Schaeffer will probably abdicate his right field spot and toe the rubber.

Regular Friday Night TV Fights Head Toward Final Fadeout

By MURRAY ROSE

Associated Press Sports Writer

Boxing, once shown five nights a week on U.S. network television, heads towards a final fadeout on a regular basis for living room fans tonight.

Light heavyweight Johnny Persol of New York and Henry Hank of Detroit meet in a 10-rounder tonight that marks the last of the television fights from Madison Square Garden.

After that there will be three more Friday night TV fights in other sites, winding up with the middleweight clash between ex-champion Dick Tiger of Nigeria and Rocky Rivera of Argentina in Cleveland.

The curtain will ring down Sept. 11 on television's longest continuous network show—a 20-year run. In the first one Willie Pep outpointed Chalky Wright in a featherweight title bout at the Garden Sept. 29, 1944.

Some title bouts may be shown on home television on a special basis, but heavyweight title fights and other top matches probably will go to closed circuit theatre television.

Persol, the fifth-ranking contender, is a 2-1 favorite over the former high-ranking middleweight who has stepped up to the 175-pound class.

The 24-year-old New Yorker has a 12-1 record. Hank's record is 56-18, including 37 knockouts. Persol has only three knockouts to his credit but is considered a good puncher.

Calgary Golfer Takes Two To Stay In Championship Play

SASKATOON (CP) — Keith Alexander of Calgary captured two tense matches in 1964 Canadian amateur golf championship Thursday to prove that he is as big, in a competitive sense, as most men 50 pounds heavier.

His victims were Tom Draper of Royal Oak, Mich., and Bert Ticehurst of Vancouver. Draper weighs over 200 pounds, Ticehurst about 170, and Alexander 145.

Draper carried Alexander, 1960 Canadian champion, to the 21st hole before Alex n d e r canned a 15-footer for a birdie and the right to play Ticehurst in the third round.

Against Ticehurst, Alexander made a tricky putt on the 16th to go two-up. He retained his edge with a par three on the 17th to win 2 and 1.

Only one other competitor, Johnny Johnston of Vancouver, needed overtime to survive the second round of match play.

Johnston went to the 19th to stop 1961 Canadian junior champ Terry Campbell of Vancouver, then tripped Bill Pidlinski of Winnipeg 2 and 1 in the afternoon.

Quarter-final and semi-final matches were scheduled today. The 36-hole final, for the championship won last year by Nick Weslock of Toronto, will be played Saturday.

Weslock, Alexander and Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ont., were the only former champs remaining in the field. Cowan won the honor at Edmonton in 1961. He lost to Alexander in 1960. Weslock whipped Ticehurst 7 and 6 in the 1963 final.

Two Phillies Do All Work

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

The hand-me-downs and the all-star hero sat quietly in the Philadelphia dressing room.

"It's always a thrill to hit a home run," said Frank Thomas. "It's about time I did something good for a change," said Johnny Callison.

What Thomas and Callison did was supply all the runs as the Phillies swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh Pirates 2-0 and 3-2 Thursday night for a 1½ game lead in the National League pennant race.

Thomas, acquired from New York Mets recently, took care of the opener with a two-run homer in the fifth inning that won it for Art Mahaffey.

Callison, who won the all-star game for the National League, took over in the second game, going 1-1 with his 21st homer in the sixth inning, then lashing a long sacrifice fly in the eighth inning that drove in two runs.

Trailing 3-1, the Pirates got a run back in the ninth on a single by Smokey Burgess and Bill Mazeroski's double. But Callison came through again.

He grabbed Jerry Lynch's fly ball and cut down Mazeroski, trying to advance to third, to end the threat.

The Twin triumphs, coupled with Cincinnati's 16-1 victory over slugging San Francisco, added 1½ games to the Phillies lead. The Reds, meanwhile, pulled into a tie for second with the Giants by winning their fourth straight while San Francisco lost its fifth in a row.

In the only other NL game scheduled, Dennis Menke drove in three runs and Hank Aaron struck four hits as Milwaukee Braves belted Los Angeles Dodgers 6-2.

Mahaffey, bringing his record to 11-6, won his duel with Bob Finkel in the opener when Clay Daryle took over.

In the nightcap, Bob Bailey put the Pirates ahead 1-0 with a third inning homer off Rick Wise. Callison then tagged Dan Swarth with the loss.

The Giants led the Reds 4-3 until Deron Johnson slammed a bases-empty homer in the seventh inning. The Reds then broke it open in the eighth inning with a stadium split, scoring the go-ahead run when Ron Herbel issued a bases-loaded walk to Tommy Harper.

Besides Johnson, Robinson and Lee Anderson homered for the Reds while Willie Mays, Orlando Cepeda and Del Crandall connected for the Giants. Mays' lead-off homer was his 26th.

Top Officers In Armed Forces Face "Integration Retirement"

OTTAWA (CP) — There are 142 officers in the four top ranks of the armed forces and they draw salaries of between $15,800 and $25,000 a year. About one-third of them will be retired during the next couple of months as integration of the defence department's command structure takes hold, informed said Wednesday. Defence Minister Heffner says there now is enough manpower at defence headquarters to administer a defence force of 500,000 men. The Canadian armed forces number about 120,000. He told the Commons Monday that a substantial number of officers will be retired, not because they aren't of high calibre but because there simply won't be jobs for them when the command structure is integrated. Some will be retired compulsorily before normal retirement age. Mr. Heffner has been a bit taken aback by the fuss over the announced retirement of

Many Things to Think About On Late Summer Camp Trip

If you fold your tent like the Arabs, you may be in trouble, says the B.C. Automobile Association.

You one thing, the folds for stowing a tent on a car's back could be somewhat different from those for stowing it in your car or station wagon. On your camping trip this summer, you are more likely to be transporting your camping gear by car, station wagon, trailer, special camper or backpack.

For the first-time camper, the BCAA suggests a good long look at some of the fine equipment available to the station wagon or car vacationer. Selecting the proper tent can be as decision-ridden as buying a home. You'll consider such factors as style, size, weight, flooring and mosquito netting.

Will you want a tent separate from, attached to, or on top of your car? Will you want one which is fairly permanent, for remaining at one site, or one which can be put up and taken down quickly for moving from site to site? With tents out of the way, you'll turn your attention to bedding. Sleeping bags and air mattresses provide more warmth and comfort than cots and take up no more room. "Single-double" bags with duck and down or synthetic fibre fillers are a good buy for comfort and adaptability. These can be used individually or zipped together to form a double sleeping bag.

Cooking and utility equipment should include a gas stove or propane stove and an apron big enough to hold a 25-pound block of ice. Nested aluminum pans, cups and plates are handy, and are available in sets of six to four. Don't forget a vacuum pan, a plastic water bucket, a shovel, an efficient lantern, a hatchet, and hammer and large nails for carpentry where individual platforms are constructed on which to place your tent. Another essential is a large plastic sheet which can be used for many purposes such as a canopy over your table or thrown over your tent as extra protection in the event of a sudden downpour.

You toilet needs will be simplified by a portable toilet with disposable plastic liners. Carry along disposable diapers for the baby, along with a small supply of regular diapers for night use. A folding plastic wash bowl will come in handy. For washing, washing and freshening up along the way, try the individually wrapped towellette. These are a special convenience with children along. Clothing should present few problems. Except for some of the wilder areas, you won't be far from an automatic laundry. Be sure to include sweaters and warm pyjamas for cool nights. Rainwear is essential on any trip. You'll want your own special clothing for sports activities—swimming, basketball, riding, golf or tennis.

"Khan Must Go" Clamor Echoes in Saigon Rallies

SAIGON (AP)—Students in Saigon and other South Vietnamese cities staged today anti-government rallies and demanded that President Nguyen Khanh step aside in favor of a civilian government. The rallies came on the heels of the death of four U.S. military advisers and heavy Viet Cong losses in a Communist ambush south of Saigon.

In Saigon today, Buddhist student leader Tue That Tue told 500 yelling students that Khanh's "dictatorship is even worse than the Ngo Dinh Diem dictatorship, and we must fight harder than ever."

The group marched to Khanh's office building shouting anti-government slogans and waving banners reading "Khanh must go" and "Khanh is a grave for himself." Khanh was at the seaside resort of Cape St. Jacques, 30 miles southeast of Saigon, putting together a new cabinet.

Informal sources said a delegation of students went to see him there also.

STAGE OTHER RALLIES

Rallies against Khanh's regime were also staged in Hue, Tuy Hoa, Can Tho and other towns. The demonstrators—legal under Viet Nam's state of emergency decree—were not stopped, but police and troops kept watch.

Student leader Tue was allowed inside Khanh's Saigon office building, where he presented an ultimatum to officials of the government's information agency.

The student demands included freedom of the press, abrogation of the national charter promulgated by Khanh last Sunday, an end of alleged repression of Buddhists and replacement of the military government by civilians.

Student leaders said they would give Khanh until next Tuesday to give them satisfactory replies or they would "enlarge the struggle."

Student boy cotts of high schools and universities appeared to be widespread today, and examinations were being put off. More demonstrations are planned for today and for the week to come.

Nanaimo Students Learn About Sex

NANAIMO (CP)—Sex education will be introduced in Nanaimo schools this year.

John McPherson, school board secretary-treasurer, said Thursday that the board has accepted a course prepared by G. H. Bennett, medical health officer.

He said there are initial reservations to be made in the course but nothing that will substantially change it.

Parents will have permission to refuse permission to children to attend the sex lectures that will be given in Grades Five and Six for girls, Grades Eight and Nine for boys and Grade 11 for boys and girls in separate sessions.

In Grades Five and Six girls will see one of two films entitled "The Wonderful Being A Girl" and "The Story of Menstruation." A police health nurse will be available to answer questions during discussion periods after the showing of the films.

The Grade Eight-Nine course for boys includes the film "From Boy to Man." A physician will be available for discussion.

News Of Downed U.S. Plane First North Viet Nam Victory

HONG KONG (Reuters)—North Viet Nam's announcement that it shot down a U.S. aircraft last Tuesday was its first "victory claim" in the two weeks following the U.S. air attacks on storage facilities and oil storage facilities.

The announcement, over the country's official news agency, said the "U.S. imperialists and their lackeys sent a plane to violate the airspace of North Viet Nam in Nghe An and Quang Binh provinces on August 18."

North Vietnamese anti-aircraft units shot the plane down, it said. The fate of the crew was not mentioned.

The announcement followed the dispatch of "largest messages" to the International Commission on Viet Nam, complaining about "new intrusions into the airspace of the Democratic Republic of Viet Nam by U.S. military planes."

As reported by the news agency, the messages alleged daily intrusions by U.S. aircraft

African Appeals To Soviet And U.S. Avoid Collision On Unpaid UN Dues

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—A leading African diplomat appealed to the United States and the Soviet Union today to avoid a collision over unpaid dues and dues for UN peace operations for fear it would weaken the United Nations.

The appeal was made by S. O. Adedeji of Nigeria, chairman of the 21-nation working group which is studying ways to assess UN members for future peace-keeping operations.

Adedeji said in an interview he hoped something could be done to relieve the deadlock over unpaid dues for The Congo and Middle East forces.

The Soviet Union has said that it will never pay a cent toward either The Congo or Soviet operations on grounds that they are illegal.

The Soviet Union and 14 other countries are two calendar years behind in their total UN assessments. France will reach that point next Jan. 1.

The United States has said two-year delinquents must lose their General Assembly vote automatically when the world forum convenes Nov. 15 because the charter so stipulates.

The U.S. House of Representatives and the Senate foreign relations committees have adopted resolutions that were asking the U.S. government to make every effort to see that this penalty was applied.

At a press conference Thursday Secretary-General U Thant said he hoped Adedeji's group would meet easily in September and work into this problem from all angles.

Adedeji said there was a "great war" going on between the two big powers over peacekeeping functions and "light difference" between various groups of countries.

His working group includes Communist, Western and non-aligned countries.

Train Robbery Lead Rewarded

LONDON (Reuters)—The 61-year-old widow of a policeman rewarded Wednesday she will receive a reward of about £10,000 for helping police in Britain's great train robbery investigation.

A spokesman for a firm of London loss adjusters, announcing the award, said another £10,000 would be shared by a man and a woman.

Fingerprints and other clues found at the farm were vital in catching and convicting the robbers, who held up the regular Scotland-Edinburgh mail train last August and stole more than £2,500,000 ($1,500,000).

Two other women and a man were also in line for rewards for helping to find the £250,000 of the loot so far recovered.
